

Royal Museums Greenwich wish to dispose of the items listed below, which are offered on a free transfer basis to UK museums and heritage organisations. Recipient to organise and pay for collection.

For further information contact:

Stephen Goddard, Collections Review and Standards Officer

Tel. 020 8312 6527 e-mail: sgoddard@rmg.co.uk

National Maritime Museum, Park Row, Greenwich, London, SE10 9NF

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number:	AAA5848
No. of Parts	1
Item Category:	Ceramics
Item Name:	Plate
Title:
Date Made:	1962-1968
Maker/Artist:	Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made:	Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description:	White ironstone china side plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5845-5851 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials:	earthenware
Measurements:	Overall: 20 x 180 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5849
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china side plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5845-5851 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 175 mm

ID Number: AAA5850
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china side plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5845-5851 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 175 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5854
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: 1954-1968
Maker/Artist: W. H. Grindley & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England, United Kingdom
Description: White ironstone china side plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5852-AAA5855 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 15 x 160 mm

ID Number: AAA5855
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: 1954-1968
Maker/Artist: W. H. Grindley & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England, United Kingdom
Description: White ironstone china side plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5852-AAA5855 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 160 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5857
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china dinner plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are six similar items in the collection AAA5856-AAA5861. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 230 mm

ID Number: AAA5859
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china dinner plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are six similar items in the collection AAA5856-AAA5861. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 25 x 230 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5860

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Plate

Title:

Date Made: 1962-1968

Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd

Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White ironstone china dinner plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are six similar items in the collection AAA5856-AAA5861. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 20 x 225 mm

ID Number: AAA5861

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Plate

Title:

Date Made: 1962-1968

Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd

Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White ironstone china dinner plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are six similar items in the collection AAA5856-AAA5861. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 25 x 230 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5862

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Plate

Title:

Date Made: 1962-1968

Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd

Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White ironstone china soup plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are eleven similar items in the collection AAA5862-AAA5872. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 45 x 230 mm

ID Number: AAA5863

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Plate

Title:

Date Made: 1962-1968

Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd

Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White ironstone china soup plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are eleven similar items in the collection AAA5862-AAA5872. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 45 x 230 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5866
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: circa 1965
Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd
Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china soup plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are eleven similar items in the collection AAA5862-AAA5872. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 40 x 235 mm

ID Number: AAA5869
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate
Title:
Date Made: circa 1965
Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd
Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china soup plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are eleven similar items in the collection AAA5862-AAA5872. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 40 x 235 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5870
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: 1958-1968
 Maker/Artist: Pountney & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Bristol, City of Bristol, England, United Kingdom
 Description: White ironstone china soup plate, with a brown line around the edge. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are eleven similar items in the collection AAA5862-AAA5872. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 40 x 235 mm

ID Number: AAA5873
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china entrée plate, with a brown line around the rim. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are five similar items in the collection AAA5873-AAA5877. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 215 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5875
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china entrée plate, with a brown line around the rim. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are five similar items in the collection AAA5873-AAA5877. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 210 mm

ID Number: AAA5876
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china entrée plate, with a brown line around the rim. A ribbon inscribed 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on the rim. There are five similar items in the collection AAA5873-AAA5877. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 215 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5886
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Saucer
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

ID Number: AAA5887
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Saucer
 Title:
 Date Made: circa 1965
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5888
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Saucer
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

ID Number: AAA5889
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Saucer
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5890
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Saucer
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

ID Number: AAA5891
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Saucer
 Title:
 Date Made: 1962-1968
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5893
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Saucer
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

ID Number: AAA5894
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Saucer
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5896
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Saucer
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 140 mm

ID Number: AAA5897
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Saucer
Title:
Date Made: 1962-1968
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge. (AAA5886-AAA5897 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 145 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5902
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Saucer
Title:
Date Made: Before 1968
Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd
Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5901-AAA5907 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 125 mm

ID Number: AAA5903
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Saucer
Title:
Date Made: Before 1968
Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd
Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5901-AAA5907 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 125 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5905

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Saucer

Title:

Date Made: Before 1968

Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd

Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England

Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5901-AAA5907 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 20 x 125 mm

ID Number: AAA5906

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Saucer

Title:

Date Made: Before 1968

Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd

Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England

Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5901-AAA5907 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 20 x 125 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5907
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Saucer
Title:
Date Made: Before 1968
Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd
Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china saucer, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5901-AAA5907 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 125 mm

ID Number: AAA5908
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Cup
Title:
Date Made: Before 1968
Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd
Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England
Description: White ironstone china coffee cup with a brown line around the rim and handle. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the side (AAA5908-AAA5911 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 60 x 85 x 60 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5911
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Cup

Title:
Date Made: Before 1968
Maker/Artist: Furnivals Ltd
Place Made: Cobridge, Staffordshire, England

Description: White ironstone china coffee cup with a brown line around the rim and handle. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the side (AAA5908-AAA5911 are a similar design). The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 60 x 85 x 60 mm

ID Number: AAA5915
No. of Parts: 1
Item Category: Ceramics
Item Name: Plate

Title:
Date Made: After 1962
Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White, ironstone china plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5915-AAA5923) are a similar design. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware
Measurements: Overall: 20 x 205 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5916
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5915-AAA5923) are a similar design. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 205 mm

ID Number: AAA5917
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5915-AAA5923) are a similar design. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 205 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5919
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5915-AAA5923) are a similar design. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 200 mm

ID Number: AAA5920
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Plate
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5915-AAA5923) are a similar design. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 20 x 205 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5922

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Plate

Title:

Date Made: After 1962

Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd

Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White, ironstone china plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5915-AAA5923) are a similar design. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 20 x 205 mm

ID Number: AAA5923

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Plate

Title:

Date Made: After 1962

Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd

Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White, ironstone china plate, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5915-AAA5923) are a similar design. The maker's mark is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey. Their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 20 x 200 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5925
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Bowl
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china bowl, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5924-AAA5932 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 35 x 190 mm

ID Number: AAA5926
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Bowl
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china bowl, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5924-AAA5932 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 30 x 190 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5927
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Bowl
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china bowl, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5924-AAA5932 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 35 x 190 mm

ID Number: AAA5928
 No. of Parts: 1
 Item Category: Ceramics
 Item Name: Bowl
 Title:
 Date Made: After 1962
 Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd
 Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England
 Description: White, ironstone china bowl, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5924-AAA5932 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.
 Materials: earthenware
 Measurements: Overall: 35 x 190 mm

Group Name: Port Line ceramics on offer October 2025 - public list

ID Number: AAA5930

No. of Parts: 1

Item Category: Ceramics

Item Name: Bowl

Title:

Date Made: After 1962

Maker/Artist: Wedgwood & Co Ltd

Place Made: Tunstall, Staffordshire, England

Description: White, ironstone china bowl, with a brown line around the rim. 'PORT LINE' is transfer-printed in brown on a ribbon on the edge (AAA5924-AAA5932 are a similar design). The maker's name is printed on the base. This pattern was described by the donor, a purser with Port Line, as the 'Breakfast service'. The Port Line carried refrigerated cargo from Australia and New Zealand and manufactured goods on the outward journey; their ships also carried passengers. Blue Star and Port Lines operated under one management as Blue Star Port Lines from 1968.

Materials: earthenware

Measurements: Overall: 30 x 190 mm